

EVANSVILLE NOW HAS CONSOLIDATED PLANT

Entire D. E. Wood Company Now Located in Evansville.

Evansville, April 10.—Since the first of the present month a change has been made in the D. E. Woods Knitting company, whereby the plant controlled in Elgin has been transferred to this city, and where by all business hereafter will be transacted from this point. The business office formerly was located at Elgin and the factory here. Robert Pearson, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Pearson, who for the past six years has been in the Elgin office, now has the management of the enlarged plant here. Miss Jones, who has been in the company's employment in Elgin for a number of years, has taken a desk here and more of the Elgin office force will probably be transferred within the near future.

Miss Katherine Greenwood of this city has recently been employed as a stenographer. There is a complete re-arrangement made, and it will still be a little time before the plant is working according to the new schedule.

The manufacture of process butter will be discontinued and attention given to the making of oleomargarine, their brands being known as "Reynolds" and "Anchor."

The creamery portion will be continued as formerly, and the capacity so increased that it will be able to handle all the business that comes to it. New additions to the plant and the installing of new machinery will greatly increase the output capacity, and also make it possible to handle all the milk that may be shipped in or brought in by farmers.

The Red Cross Report for March. The following is the list of completed articles made by the local Red Cross society for the month of March: Hospital garments—Six bandaged foot socks; 57 bed shirts; 12 wash cloths; 36 pajamas; 1 hospital quilt; Children's garments—Ten pairs of shoes; 5 baby quilts.

Knitting Department.—For the month of March there were 170 completed articles shipped by the knitting department: 46 sweaters, 96 socks, 28 wristlets, 2 helmets.

All reports of hospital garment making and knitting given by the local unit always include the work done by Magnolia and Cooksville for they are included in our unit. And loyal workers they are, too, doing a good share of the entire allotment. In the knitting department they furnish their own yarn besides the knitting of the many articles.

During the two weeks allotted by the National Red Cross organization for the donation of wearing apparel for the destitute people of France and Belgium, 700 articles were donated and shipped to New York by the Evansville Red Cross branch.

JANESVILLE OUT FOR LIBERTY LOAN FLAGS

COMMITTEE URGES THAT ALL CITIZENS ASSIST IN HELPING THIS CITY TO WIN COVETED EMBLEM.

DRIVE OPENS MONDAY

Monster Drive for Third Liberty Loan Campaign Scheduled to Open on Monday at Nine O'clock.

Every city as well as every county that makes its quota in the Third Liberty Loan is to receive a service flag from the treasury department. Janesville is out after its service flag and after it has been secured, the city must go to the top with an amount large enough to insure the safety of the county as well. We want to see two flags flying in Janesville, the city flag on the flag pole at the city hall and the county flag on the flag pole at the court house.

Janesville's goal was definitely announced yesterday to be $800,000.00. This is a huge task and it must have the co-operation of every man, woman, and child in the city. Everybody must help.

Chairman Lovejoy of the local committee announces that the intensive drive will begin Monday, April 15th, at nine o'clock. It is expected to get both the downtown and the residence districts covered in three days of fast work. To do this and do it properly more workers are needed. Everyone who can spare an hour or two of his three days or not is called upon to volunteer. Men workers should turn in their names to the city chairman, A. E. Lovejoy. Women workers should turn in their names to the women's chairman, Mrs. H. A. Ford.

It is expected that arrangements will be made to have the city flag on the flag pole at the city hall and the county flag on the flag pole at the court house. The subscriptions pass a new $100,000 mark, in order that the rest of the city may know that the patriots are working. It is important to facilitate the work of the committee in every possible way so that the totals be kept right up to the minute. Your subscription will count the day it is made. It is turned in at the banks. Therefore, everyone is urged to file their applications at the headquarters at 5 North Main street where the subscriptions will be received and carried into the banks every afternoon.

The industrial committee has invited the factory managers and the Y. M. C. A. Friday noon. It is expected that all the salesmen, both men and women, who are to take part in next week's drive will be ready. On some Friday afternoon and addressed on salesmanship by George Wolcott of Beloit. This meeting is to impress upon the workers the fact that the best value for the money that could be purchased in the United States today. This is not a campaign of solicitation of gifts, donations or contributions. It is primarily a campaign of salesmanship. Your money buys the best security on earth and at the same time helps insure patriotism, protection and peace. All out for the Third Liberty Loan campaign, volunteer at once.

The success of past Liberty loan campaigns depended largely on the work and co-operation of the women. The success of the pending campaign in like manner depends very much upon the work which the women are organizing to do. They are already active under the general leadership of Mrs. Herbert A. Ford, who is the women's chairman of the Janesville chapter. She is now compiling her list of captains and workers.

The captains for the different wards are as follows: First ward, Mrs. George Woodruff; Second ward, Mrs. George Grant; Third ward, Mrs. Louis Levy; Fourth ward, Mrs. Fred A. Capelle; Fifth ward, Mrs. J. J. Dulin. The names of the workers will be compiled and when their selection has been completed.

ERNEST WEBER WANTS TO REGISTER AS AN ALIEN ENEMY AT ONCE

Janesville Man Held at Wausau Expresses His Desire to Register as an Alien Enemy.

Ernest Weber, who claims Janesville as his home, who was arrested in Wausau yesterday as an alien enemy who had failed to register, will be taken to Madison by United States authorities today.

Inquiry in this city reveals that Weber was formerly a Lutheran minister, preaching in the country districts. Mr. Weber owns a house at 787 South Bluff street, which is occupied by R. E. Ehlers. He is very secluded in this city, according to Mrs. Ehlers. He was in Janesville last month for a day and then left. Mrs. Ehlers stated that he took much pride in his house and that while at their home he never spoke of anything except the house.

He has no relatives in this city and Mrs. Ehlers further stated that he is in the habit of carrying a considerable amount of money on his person. Mr. Weber at Wausau this morning stated that he is ready to go to Madison and express his desire to register as an alien enemy.

A NOVEL

"A shocking tragedy and most peculiar," said the overseer. "Nothing could amaze me more. Tell me, how did you come to be there at such an hour, eh?"

Esteban saw the malevolent curiosity in Cucto's face and started. "That is my affair. Surely you don't think—"

"Come, come! You can trust me." The overseer winked and smiled.

"I had business that took me there," stilly declared the younger man.

"Exactly! And a profitable business it proved." Cucto laughed openly now. "Well, I don't mind telling you Donna Isabel's death is no disappointment to anyone. Anybody could see—"

"Stop!" Esteban was turning alternately red and white. "You seem to imply something outrageous."

"Now let us be sensible. I understand you perfectly, my boy. But an officer of the Guardia Civil may arrive at any moment and he will want to know how you came to be with your stepmother when she plunged into that trap. So prepare yourself."

Young Varona was watching his inquisitor now with a faintly speculative frown. When Cucto had finished, Esteban said:

"You would like me to confess to some black iniquity that would make a better friend, eh? Well, it so happens that I was not alone tonight, but that another person saw the poor woman's death and can bear me out in everything I say. No, Pancho, you overreach yourself. Now, then—Esteban was quick-tempered, and for years he had struggled against an instinctive distrust and dislike of the plantation manager—"remember that I have become the head of this house, and your employer. You will do better to think of your own affairs than of mine. I intend to have a careful reckoning with you. I think you know I have a good head for figures." Turning his back upon the elder man, he walked away.

Now it did not occur to Cucto really to doubt the boy's innocence, though the circumstances of Donna Isabel's death were suspicious enough to raise a question in any mind; but in view of Esteban's threat he thought it wise to protect himself by setting a backfire.

As he sat on an old stone bench, moodily repicturing the catastrophe as Esteban had described it, his attention fell upon an envelope at his feet. It was sealed; it was unaddressed. Cucto idly broke it open and began to read. Before he had gone far he started; then he cast a furtive glance about. But the place was secluded; he was unobserved. When he faltered reading he rose, smiling. He no longer feared Esteban. On the contrary, he rather pitied the young fool; for here between his fingers was that which not only promised to remove the boy from his path forever, but to place in his hands the entire Varona estates.

One afternoon, perhaps a week later, Don Mario de Castano came puffing and blowing up to the quinta, demanding to see Rosa without a moment's delay. With a directness unusual even in him, Don Mario began:

"Rosa, my dear, you and Esteban have been discovered! I was at lunch with the comandante when I learned the truth. Through friendship I prevailed upon him to give you an hour's grace."

"What do you mean, Don Mario?" inquired the girl.

"Come, come! The planter cried, impatiently. 'Don't you see you can trust me? Heaven! The recklessness, the folly of young people! Could you not leave this insurrection to your elders? Or perhaps you thought it a matter of no great importance, an amusing thing—'

"Don Mario!" Rosa interrupted. "I don't know what you are talking about."

"You don't, eh?" The caller's wet cheeks grew redder; he blew like a porpoise. "Then call Esteban quickly! There is not a moment to lose." When the brother appeared De Castano blurted out at him accusingly: "Well, sir! A fine fix you've put yourself in. Perhaps you will be interested to learn that Colonel Fernandez has issued orders to arrest you and your sister as agents of the insurgents."

"What?" Esteban drew back. Rosa turned white as a lily and laid a fluttering hand upon her throat.

"You two will sleep tonight in San Severino," grimly announced the roving visitor. "You know what that means."

Rosa uttered a smothered cry. "Colonel Fernandez?" Don Mario proceeded, impressively, "did me this favor, knowing me to be a sutor for Rosa's hand. In spite of his duty and the evidence he—"

"Evidence? What evidence?" Esteban asked sharply.

"For one thing, your own letter to Lopez, the rebel, warning him to beware of the trap prepared for him in Santa Clara, and advising him of the government force at Sabanilla. Oh, don't try to deny it! I read it with my own eyes, and it means—death."

Rosa said faintly: "Esteban! I warned you."

Esteban was taken aback, but it was plain that he was not in the least frightened. "They haven't caught me yet," he laughed.

"You say they intend to arrest me also?" Rosa eyed the caller anxiously.

"Exactly!"

"Who accuses her, and of what?" Esteban demanded.

"That also I have discovered through the courtesy of Colonel Fernandez. Your accuser is none other than Pancho Cucto."

"Cucto?"

"Yes; he has denounced both of you as rebels, and the letter is only part of his proof, I believe. Now, then, you can guess why I am here. I am not without influence; I can save Rosa, but for you, Esteban, I fear I can do nothing. You must look out for yourself. Well? What do you say?"

When Esteban saw how pale his sister had grown, he took her in his arms, saying gently: "I'm sorry, dear. It's all

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor or energy, troubled with undigested foods, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. 4c 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

my fault." Then to the merchant: "It's very good of you to warn us."

"Ha!" Don Mario fanned himself. "I'm glad you appreciate my efforts. It's a good thing to have the right kind of a friend. I'll marry Rosa within an hour, and I fancy my name will be a sufficient shield—"

Rosa turned to her elderly gaffer and made a deep courtesy. "I am unworthy of the honor," said she. "You see, I—I do not love you, Don Mario."

"Love!" exploded the visitor. "God bless you! What has love to do with the matter? Esteban will have to ride for his life in ten minutes and your property will be seized. So you had better make yourself ready to go with me."

But Rosa shook her head.

"Eh? What ails you? What do you expect to do?"

"I shall go with Esteban," said the girl.

This calm announcement seemed to stupefy De Castano. He sat down heavily in the nearest chair, and with his wet handkerchief poised in one pudgy hand he stared fixedly at the speaker. His eyes were round and bulging, the sweat streamed unheeded from his temples. He resembled some queer bloated marine monster just emerged from the sea and momentarily dazzled by the light.

"You—You're mad," he finally gasped. "Esteban, tell her what it means."

But this Esteban could not do, for he himself had not the faintest notion of what was in store for him. War seemed to him a glorious thing; he had been told that the hills were peopled with patriots. He was very young, his heart was ablaze with hatred for the Spaniards and for Pancho Cucto. He longed to risk his life for a free Cuba. Therefore he said: "Rosa shall do as she pleases. If we must be exiles we shall share each other's hardships. It will not be for long."

"Idiot!" stormed the fat man. "Better that you gave her to the sharks below San Severino. There is no law, no safety for women outside of the cities. The island is in anarchy. These patriots you talk about are the blacks, the mulattoes, the—lowest, laziest savages in Cuba."

"Please! Don Mario!" the girl pleaded. "I cannot marry you, for—I love another."

"Eh?"

"I love another, I'm betrothed to O'Reilly, the American—and he's coming back to marry me."

De Castano twisted himself laboriously out of his chair and waddled toward the door. He was purple with rage and mortification. On the press-oil he paused to wheeze: "Very well, then. Go! I'm done with both of you. I would have lent you a hand with this rascal Cucto, but now he will fall heir to your entire property. Well, it is a time for bandits! I—I—"

Unable to think of a parting speech sufficiently bitter to match his disappointment, Don Mario plunged out into the sunlight, muttering and stammering to himself.

Within an hour the twins were on their way up the Yumuri, toward the home of Asensio and Evangelina; for it was thither that they naturally turned. It was well that they had made haste, for as they rode down into the valley, up the other side of the hill from Matanzas came a squad of the Guardia Civil, and at its head rode Pancho Cucto.

Dinner Stories

Little Lydia had been given a ring as a birthday present, but, much to her disappointment, no one of the guests at dinner noticed it. Finally unable to withstand their obtuseness or indifference, she exclaimed: "Oh, dear, I'm so warm in my new ring!"

Two impecunious Scotsmen traveling in search of gold, came upon a drinking saloon. They had only sixpence between them, so they ordered one "nip o' whiskey."

They were hesitating who should have the first drink when an "auld" acquaintance joined them. Pretending they had just drunk, one of them handed the newcomer the whiskey, requesting him to join them in a drink.

He drank, and after a few minutes of painful and silent suspense, said: "Now, boys, you'll have one with me."

"Wusna that well managed, mon?" said one to his pal afterward.

"Aye, it was," said the other, solemnly, "but it was a dreadful risk!"

"I suppose, Henry," said the old gentleman to the new son-in-law, "that you are aware the check for $5,000 I put in among your wedding presents was merely for effect?"

"Oh, yes sir," responded the cheerful Henry, "and the effect was excellent. The bank cashed it this morning without a word."

A young lady was teasing a middle-aged captain returned from the front upon his unimpaired appearance.

"And why are you bald?" she roughly inquired.

"Madame," returned the warrior, bowing, "it's through junior officers stepping over my head."

Something New in Town-From "The Land of the Long Leaf Pine"

A Remarkable Treatment From North Carolina That Relieves Croup and Cold Troubles Without the Necessity of Internal "Dosing"—Applied Externally, It is Inhaled as a Vapor and also Absorbed Through the Skin.

Local Druggists Are Selling 25c Jars on 30 Days' Trial—No Charge if Not Delighted with the Results.

Every year thousands of people, suffering from various forms of lung trouble, make a pilgrimage to the pine barrens of North Carolina, "the land of the long leaf pine." The reason lies in the warm, dry air, perfumed with the spicy odor of the pines.

Local druggists, however, have recently received a treatment that is almost as good as a trip South. This is Vick's VapoRub, the invention of a North Carolina druggist.

VapoRub comes in salve form and when applied over the throat and chest, the body heat releases medicated vapors that are inhaled with each breath, through the air passages, to the lungs, loosening the phlegm and soothing the inflamed membrane. In cases of severe chest colds, bronchitis, tonsillitis or incipient pneumonia, first apply hot, wet towels to open the pores. VapoRub is then absorbed through and stimulates the skin, taking out that tightness and soreness in the chest.

One rubbing with VapoRub usually relieves croup within 15 minutes and an application at bedtime prevents a night attack. For head colds, hay fever, catarrh or asthmatic troubles, VapoRub can either be applied up the nostrils or a little melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled.

The progressive druggists here are anxious that their customers should try this new treatment, and are, therefore, offering VapoRub on 30 days' trial.

Home Craft Week at The Big Store

This is the time of year to give serious consideration to the re-curtain-fing of windows, and to putting the house to right generally after the long winter.

The Importance of NEW HANGINGS

Curtains and Draperies are beauty spots in the home, and whether they be costly or inexpensive, if properly and judiciously selected will make the home what it should be—a place of beauty and comfort.

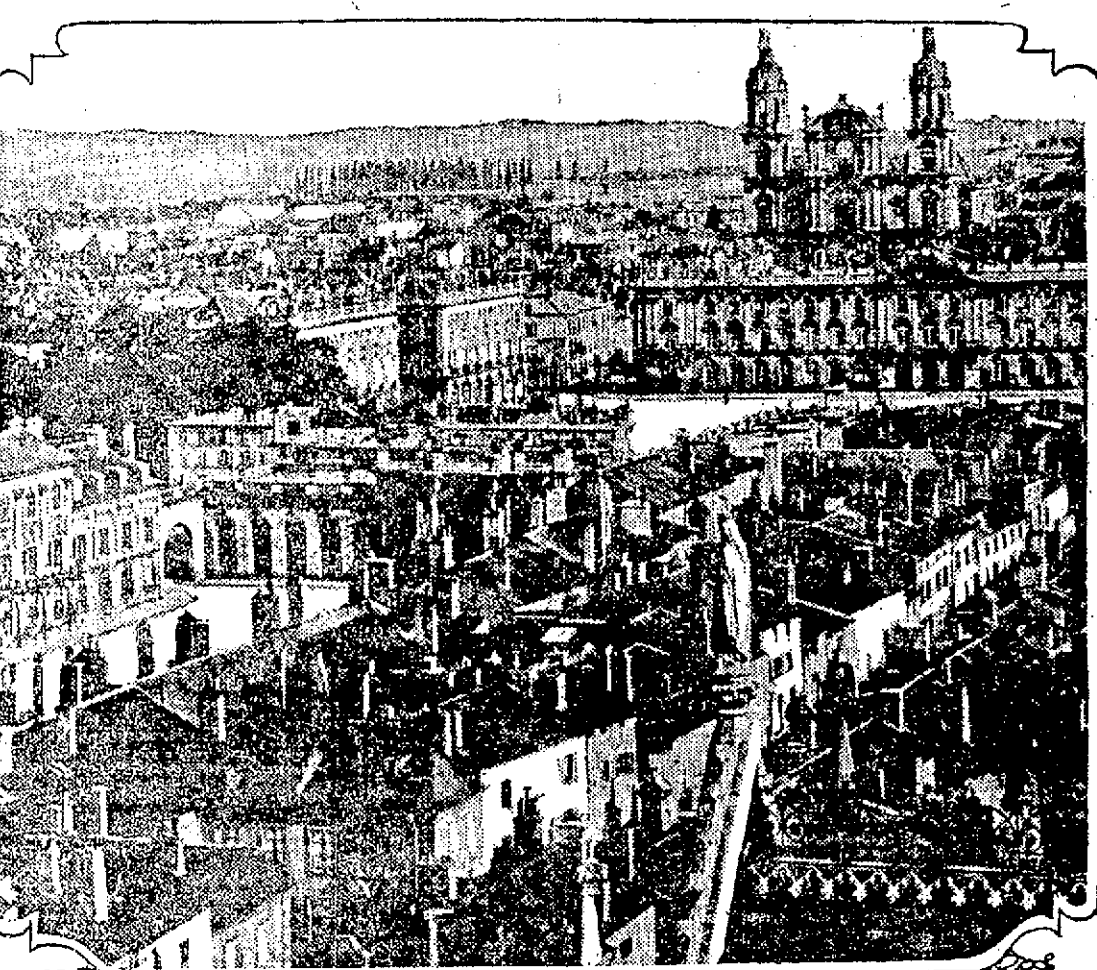

Then again, your personality is expressed in the draperies of your home—they proclaim it loudly. Have you ever stepped into a room where the draperies were missing? Well, that lonesome feeling, distant and repellent, is reflected on the exterior of the home at the same time. Its outward look is cold, distant and dismal. Quite the contrast with the home next door, its windows veiled, draped with dignity and refinement, transmitting the impression of a happy home, of luxury and cheer.

This week on our second floor, you will find hundreds of fine drapery materials, specially created styles of draping, and numerous suggestions for making your home more beautiful and inviting, and you will be pleasantly surprised at the small amount that will be required, for many specially reduced items prevail.

Nancy Is Favorite Mark Of Hun Raid Or Shell Fire

View of Nancy, one of the most frequently bombarded of French towns.

London, April 8.—Though it has not been so often the victim of air raids as such other French towns as Orleans, Verdun or Ypres, nor has it known the hundred raids that London has known, yet the town of Nancy, France, can claim the honor of being a favorite mark of German bombardments. In one respect at least, Nancy has been the greatest victim of German "strategy."

For there are two ways in which the enemy can strike Nancy, by air raids and by direct shell fire. Since the appearance of the Hun's monster gun, Paris, too, has been assaulted both by air raids and direct fire, but Nancy has suffered from both since almost the first of the war. The German long range pieces behind their own lines have frequently fired "in the direction of Nancy," and no one knows what day or night it will happen again. No one in Nancy knows, at least, all about twenty seconds before the shell arrives.

COMING OF SHELL IS SIGNALLED AHEAD

In the public squares of Nancy there have been dug at frequent intervals stone markers like subway stations in New York or Paris. Into these bomb proofs the people on the street are supposed to run for shelter when a shell is coming. How do they know it is coming? The sound always travels behind a projectile. In a thunderstorm the lightning always strikes before the clap of thunder. Likewise, if you hear a shell explode, it won't hit you. It has already landed. But there are quieter ways of announcing a shell than its own sound. Wireless telegraphy for instance. In order to strike Nancy, the German shells have to pass over some part of the French front-line trenches, where a big shell sounds like a railroad train going through the air, and there wireless operators send a flash to Nancy that a shell has been heard on its way. This signal arrives at Nancy in a very small fraction of a second, and the alarm sets a big siren going. Usually the alarm can hear the shell from fifteen to thirty seconds, or enough time for a quick dive into the nearest bomb proof or cellar.

IT'S PEOPLE CAN'T BE SCARED AWAY

It is, nevertheless, true that though frequently bombarded by airplanes and by shell fire, Nancy is still full of people. Trade goes on, if not "as usual" it still goes on. The department stores, of which the city is so proud, are mostly smashed, still do business and have bargain days. Some of the hotels are closed, but others are thronged with commercial travelers as well as by military men. The restaurants are open, as usual, and the schools and churches are thronged. And yet the German trenches are less than twenty miles away.

"What do you do when the bombs drop?" was asked two women, mother and daughter, who run a little store on Place Stanislas, where one can buy postal cards, newspapers, stationery and maps. They had their home at Pont-a-Mousson, farther north, until the Germans landed a heavy shell in front of it and wiped it out.

"We generally stay in bed," said the mother.

"Wouldn't you be safer in the cellar?"

"Yes, perhaps," was the answer. "But we figure it out this way. If we stay in bed we may not get hit, and if we go down into the cellar we are sure to catch cold."

LIVE CALMLY CLOSE TO BATTLE FRONT

That reply expresses very well the fatalism of the French civilians along the battle front. They appear calm, normal, matter of fact, though any moment the big German Bertha may fire shells that weigh close to a ton "in the direction of" their city, and any night, when they go to bed, they do not know but what a German airplane may hover over their rooftops. Their heroism and contempt of death have never been fully appreciated or recognized, though a recent French law provides that though the civilians killed along the front by the Germans may not have military honors at their funerals, their death certificates may specify that they were "killed by the enemy." No doubt this brings some consolation to their relatives.

Early in the war Nancy was one of the German "objectives." They were stopped by the French armies under Gen. de Castelnau, who held back one tooth of the German nutcracker, while the other two closed together, the whole French army would have been crushed. In the east, where the French were prepared, the Germans never got much beyond the frontier. It was through Belgium that they invaded the north of France. Where the lines came to a standstill in the fall of 1914, they remain today. Nancy was saved, but the big German pieces, which have a range of over twenty-five miles, are able to cover the distance and bombard the town whenever the foe feels the need of "strategic" victory.

Lathrop, head of the children's bureau; Philander P. Claxton, United States commissioner of Education; John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American Union; Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

The purpose of the gathering is expressed in the official call: "Bearing as we do a large share of the responsibility of molding that public opinion which is to sustain the nation in war and to determine its conditions of peace, it is highly desirable that we assemble in Washington in serious conference, to hear the great administrators of the government and the normal master of fact, though any moment the big German Bertha may fire shells that weigh close to a ton 'in the direction of' their city, and any night, when they go to bed, they do not know but what a German airplane may hover over their rooftops. Their heroism and contempt of death have never been fully appreciated or recognized, though a recent French law provides that though the civilians killed along the front by the Germans may not have military honors at their funerals, their death certificates may specify that they were 'killed by the enemy.' No doubt this brings some consolation to their relatives."

Dr. Randolph goes to this conference prepared to maintain that Wisconsin is a magnificently loyal state, to be depended upon to do her full part in the time of the nation's need. He can report patriotic service rendered by the State University Extension department which probably is not matched in any other state, and splendid response to every appeal in behalf of our cause.

HUNS DEPORT YOUNG GIRLS TO DO WORK

With the French armies, March 10. (By Mail).—The latest grip of Germany's iron hand on Alsace-Lorraine is to force the women and girls who still remain there to abandon their homes and perform manual labor in the war zone. The system of deportation and virtual slavery is the same as that inaugurated by von Bissing in Belgium and northern France.

According to letters which have just reached Paris from the two stricken provinces many of these women and girls are now being obliged to dig both trenches and tunnels.

Despite the rigid surveillance which the Germans exercise over the inhabitants of Alsace-Lorraine, the latter still find means of getting letters into France, usually by way of Switzerland which gives vivid descriptions of the regime which the Germans are now imposing there.

One of these letters from Essy-les-Nancy and which succeeded in getting through to Ouchy in Switzerland, tells of a certain young girl who is employed in digging trenches and tunnels until we are forced to wonder how these unfortunate ones can keep up their strength.

Another letter which got through to Essy, deals more at length with the manner in which the Germans are practically enslaving the girls and women of Alsace-Lorraine. This letter reads:

"In Alsace, the Boches have inaugurated the deportation of numerous women and young girls into the military zone on the French front where they are forced to work. The newspapers do not speak about this, but merely reprint the response given by the German government stating that in the female personnel there are only 4 per cent of the young girls who are under 17 years of age. Among these there are some who are starved, (suitably, because many factories are closed, and in order not to starve to death one is forced to accept whatever presents itself to say nothing of the other means of persuasion that the Boches have at their disposal.

"The government continues to reply by saying that all young girls under 17 are now to be sent back to their families; that those that are now working against their will, and later the rest, as fast as circumstances will permit.

Indians Responding.

Green Bay, April 9.—Ojibwa Indians are responding promptly to the call to military service, even though their response means actual hardship for them. When Simon Webster, a full blooded Indian, received his notice to report before the draft board, he was supposed to report. Simon walked over fifty miles to appear before the board and when he had already had already departed he was provided with funds to pay his way to Camp Custer, Mich.

MANY BOXERS BEING DEVELOPED IN ARMY

New York, April 10.—Some high-class boxers are quite likely to be out of some high-class jobs before very long—and they may be in the position of the man who did his work so well and fast that he simply worked himself right out of a job.

Those boxers who have been giving their time to the army by serving as boxing instructors at the various army cantonments have developed some excellent boxers among their pupils. Nothing could be more natural than some of these pupils would be designated boxing instructors, and that they gradually will assume the full duties of the civilian instructor, serving as some time as enlisted men in Uncle Sam's forces.

Mrs. John Knipfel met with a bad accident last Friday morning, while on her way to the village with her son, Walter. The horse they were driving became frightened, when standing on a freight train that was backing up, and the horse fell over the side of the train, landing on the horse and rider. The accident was a very serious one, but Walter escaped without injury. He ran to the village for assistance and Mr. Peters went out and brought Mrs. Knipfel to the doctor's office, where she was cared for, and later removed to her home. The horse broke loose from the buggy and ran to the village, where he was caught by Chris Knipfel. The accident happened about one-half mile southeast on the lake shore road.

HERE ARE TWO RUSSIAN LEADERS YOU MAY NOT HAVE SEEN YET

The two men shown, whose pictures have heretofore been unpublished in America, have been important in recent Russian affairs. Lieutenant Schneur, a Leninite military attaché and "highest commandant," is a man of over sixty, who first saw service as a Hussar in the reign of Tsar Alexander II, and his picture is apparently an early one. He returned to the army at the outbreak of the war with the rank of lieutenant. G. Tchaidze has been prominent as a member of the workmen's and soldiers' soviet. He was conspicuous during the early days of the revolution for his vehement expressions and radical views and has been a fervent supporter of the doctrine of "peace without annexation or indemnities."

They Are Buying Liberty Bonds-- ARE YOU?

Thousands of men and women who don't know the luxuries and conveniences that you enjoy—men and women with the smallest incomes and living in the most modest homes—thousands of them are buying these U. S. Government Liberty Bonds with every dollar they can scrape together. Thousands of them are lending the Government all their savings. Thousands of people to whom $50 is a huge sum are buying Liberty Bonds with every penny they can spare. ARE YOU DOING YOUR PART, TOO?

This is a time when everybody, rich and poor alike, is on the same level. We all face a common enemy—the most powerful, cruel and ruthless military force the world has known. And we will all suffer—suffer privation, desolation, poverty, hard times, hunger—if we lose this war. It doesn't make any difference what country you were born in, or what country your father was born in, the happiness and freedom and prosperity of every man, woman and child in the United States depend on WINNING THIS WAR. Are you doing your part?

Have you men of wealth ever thought what would become of your wealth if Germany won and we became the vassals of Germany's military clique? Have you ever thought what would become of your wealth if Germany made us pay the whole cost of the war, as the German military authorities have declared we would HAVE TO DO?

Have you men with good jobs and happy homes and laughing children ever thought what would become of your jobs and your homes and your children if Germany should win? Have you ever thought what would become of our great industries, our railroads and mills and factories and stores and farms, if we had to bow our heads and do the will of that military clique that has forced every able-bodied man in Germany to fight for the conquest of the world or else be shot?

Isn't it better to lend every dollar you can to the U. S. Government now, than to wait till Germany has conquered the world and MAKES you pay—not lend, but PAY? Do you want to continue to hide behind England's fleet till England is beaten and we have to fight Germany alone? Do you want to wait till Canada is crushed and the German military machine is only across Lake Erie from you here?

If you don't, then buy a bond and buy it now and buy as big a one as you can. Let the whole world know that no matter what country we came from or what country our fathers came from, every man and woman in America is in this war to WIN for the sake of our homes, for the sake of our children, for the sake of our prosperity, for the sake of our freedom.

Buying a United States Government Liberty Bond is the simplest and easiest thing in the world to do. There is no red tape about it. Simply step into Liberty Loan Headquarters, No. 5 N. Main street, and make either a part payment or the whole payment, as you prefer. You can buy a $50 bond or bond for any amount higher than that.

Remember the U. S. Government is not asking you to give it anything. It's not asking you to make any sacrifice. It is merely asking you to lend it what money you can spare and will pay you four and one-quarter per cent interest on it. You will get a bond that you can borrow money on, at any bank, if you should need it. You can sell your bond and get the cash, if it should be necessary. Your bond will be as good as gold, the safest and surest investment in the world. You will get a good profit on every dollar you put in, and at the same time you will be protecting your home, protecting your children, protecting yourself, protecting your country. Buy your bond TODAY and buy as LARGE A BOND AS YOU POSSIBLY CAN.
